Table 5D-1

TRADITIONAL HOLY WEEK IN MARCH & APRIL OF 33 AD WITH PASSOVER ON FRIDAY

(right year, but wrong configuration of Holy Week, which is based on tradition and violates Matthew 12:40)

		Fri		Sat			Sun		Ц	Mon		Tue			Wed		\Box	Thu			Fri			Sat		Sun			Mon		Tue
		March 25		March 26		h	March 27			March 28			h	March 30			March 31			April 1			April 2		April 3		April 4			April 5 pm			om			m am		o pi	m a	29 am pm		am pi		n i			m a	am pm		n a	am pr								pm
	nite day			nite day			nite day		nit				nite day		nite day		nite						nite			nite day		nite day		nite	day
1800 - 2400	Nis	san 7		Nisan 8			1800 - 2400 1800 - 2400 Solution - 1200 1200 - 1800		Normal day			Normal day		١	Normal day		Nisan 13 Passover			isan 14	0600 - 1200 1200 - 1800 1800 - 2400		Nisan 15		(3)> 1800 - 5400 Nisan 16 Normal day		Normal day			18 Normal day
	Normal day			Sabbath			1st day of week Traditional Palm Sunday		Normai day		ay	ivoimai day		INOF	Normal day		Preparation Mt 26:17 Mk 14:12 Lk 22:7 Jn 19:14			Actual Passover		Sabbath Passover Feast "High Day" (Jn 19:31)		of Tra E Si	1st day of week Traditional Easter Sunday		,		,
L			4																							Day 0		Day 1		⋖ Pe	nt.Cal	C.
							Christ's triumphal enterv into lerusalem (.in 12:1 12) (comment 1)												Disciples ask Christ where Passover meal will occur (Lk 22:1,7)	Last supper, visit to Garden of Gesthemene, seizure Trial, Pilate: "Behold vour kina" (Jn 19:14)	Crucifixion @ 0900 (Mk 15:25) - light 0900 - 1200	Darkness 1200 - 1500 (Mt 27:45, MK 10:33, LK 23:44), death, burla	(comment 2)			Christ rose (Mk 16:9), women find tomb empty Christ on road to Emmans "third day since " (1 k 24:21)

- Comments: 1 Five days before Passover would have been Sunday the traditional date for the Procession with Palms.
 2 Since Nisan 14, and Nisan 15 were high holy days, the women would not have had time to buy spices before arriving at the tomb at the crack of dawn on Nisan 16, well before the markets would have been open.
 - 3 The resurrection would have occurred on the second day following the burial, violating Matthew 12:40.