Polydorus and Theopompos
 Lycourgos returned to Sparta and instituted political & military reforms under Polydorus circa 622

2nd Messenian War circa 587 - 568 started in Anaxandridas I's reign and may have caused deaths of Anaxilas, Leotychidas I, and Hippokratidas

NOTE: I moved Archidamos I below (after) Hippokratidas because Carr noted (a) that the three kings Anaxilas, Leotychidas I, and Hippokratidas may have been casualties of the 2nd Messenian War (p. 31) and (b) Plutarch claimed that the reigns of Archidamos I and Agasikles were peaceful (p. 32). Thus placing the three kings between Archidamos I and his son Agasikles (p. 31) made no sense.
